From the subhumans of Warsaw to the human animals of Gaza

Gallant will never be hanged and could even receive a Nobel Peace Prize for having fought so valiantly against the "human animals" of Gaza. For Stroop, the Jewish fighters were "terrorists, bandits, subhumans, trash."

"I have ordered the total siege of the Gaza Strip. There will be no electricity, no food, no fuel, everything is closed. We are fighting human animals and acting accordingly

General Yoav Gallant, Israeli Defense Minister, October 9, 2023

"During today's operation, several blocks of buildings have been set on fire. This is the only and definitive method that forces this waste and this subhumanity to be brought to the surface."

SS-Gruppenführer Jürgen Stroop, Warsaw, 26 April 1943

"The entire former ghetto has been rummaged through today by commandos looking for shelters and remaining Jews. As reported a few days ago, a number of subhumans, bandits and terrorists are still in the shelters, where the heat has become intolerable due to the fires. These creatures know very well that their only option is to remain hidden as long as possible or to come to the surface and attempt to wound or kill the men of the Waffen-SS, police and Wehrmacht who keep up the pressure against them."

SS-Gruppenführer Jürgen Stroop, Warsaw, 8 May 1943

"There has never been an insurrection. An insurrection has a beginning, a plan, an end and, above all, a hope of victory. In the Warsaw ghetto in April 1943, there was no hope. It is true that, in the consciousness of Jews, Poles and others, it was still an uprising. But in reality, it was about self-defense. Basically, we decided to choose our own way of dying..."

Marek Edelman, commander of the Jewish Combat Organization of the Warsaw Ghetto, Le Soir, 19-4-1993

The author of the first quoted sentence, General Gallant, son of an anti-Nazi guerrilla in the forests of Ukraine and Belarus and a Polish Holocaust survivor, will not be happy with the comparison with the author of the second and third quotes, Gruppenführer Stroop, who led the final solution of the Warsaw ghetto and was hanged for his crimes in 1952. in the same place of the ghetto.

Gallant will never be hanged and could even receive a Nobel Peace Prize for having fought so valiantly against the "human animals" of Gaza. For Stroop, the Jewish fighters were "terrorists, bandits, subhumans, trash." One of them, Marek Edelman (1919-2009), who survived and refused all his life to set foot in Israel, said of the ghetto fighters' action: "Actually, it was about self-defense. Basically, we decided to choose our own way of dying." The fighters in the Gaza ghetto can say the same.
