Israeli-controlled businesses direct US foreign policy: Dankof

8/18/2012

“Our (America’s) foreign policy is driven by Israel, by the banks and by the, yes multinational corporations and by the arms dealers, all of whom have a very symbiotic relationship with the Zionist Israel and what is overwhelmingly and provingly a Jewish-dominated international banking system,” said political commentator Mark Dankof in a Friday interview with Press TV.

He added that, the US presidential hopefuls Mitt Romney and Barack Obama continue to support the “dangerous moves that are being foisted upon [them] by the Israeli lobby.”

“You have a situation where the federal government is running a trillion-dollar budget deficit where the actual unemployment rate in the United States according to Paul Craig Roberts is 22 percent and where there is no sense that either Mr. Obama or Mr. Romney has any idea as to how to get us out of this situation,” Dankof noted.

The analyst further argued that, the US will follow the path towards poverty at home and warmongering abroad regardless of the results of the upcoming presidential elections.

“Regardless of who wins, the United States is going to be headed in the same direction which is more spending, more debt, more economic decline and more wars specifically on behalf of the international bakers who are overwhelmingly Jewish in composition,” he explained.

Dankof also warned that United States’ warmongering attitude in the world will get the county involved in more devastating wars.

“This does not change regardless of who wins this election and I predict that the United States will be involved in a wider war in the Middle East within 18 months of the presidential election,” he concluded.
