Feb 9, 2013

Two women were among six civilians died in a roadside bombing in the Nad Ali district of southern Helmand province, officials said on Saturday.

The latest civilian casualties occurred on Friday evening when a passenger van struck a hidden landmine in the Matakai area, Nad Ali police chief Lt. Omar Jan Haqmal told Pajhwok Afghan News.

He said the dead included two women, two elderly men and as many adult males in the incident that happened in the Taliban-controlled area.

The governor's spokesman, Ahmad Zirak, confirmed the blast and the casualties, but gave no details.

No one has so far claimed responsibility for the attack.
