Explosion leaves 4 Afghan policemen dead in Helmand

June 4, 2014

At least four Afghan policemen were martyred following an improvised explosive device (IED) explosion in southern Helmand province of Afghanistan.

Provincial governor spokesman, Omar Zwak, said the incident took place late Tuesday in Sangin district.

Zwak further added that the vehicle of the Afghan policemen struck with the improvised explosive device (IED), leaving 4 policemen dead and another one injured.

He said the victims of the incident were members of the public order police forces.

No group including the Taliban militants has so far claimed responsibility behind the incident.

Taliban militants and other insurgent groups frequently use improvised explosive device (IED) as the weapon of their choice to target Afghan and coalition security forces.
