13 Afghan migrants killed following road accident in Iran

August 31, 2014

At least 13 Afghan migrants were among the 14 people who were killed following a road accident in southern Iran.

The incident has reportedly taken place on Saturday night on the outskirts of Darab town.,

According to semi-offical Mehr news agency, the incident took place after a vehicle carrying Afghan migrants collided with another vehicle.

The source further added that the Afghan migrants had illegally crossed into Iran when the incident took place.

This comes as at least 24 people including women and children were killed following a traffic incident in western Herat province of Afghanistan.

Afghan nationals are frequently travelling by road to neighboring Iran to find work as labourers.

At least 11 people who were looking to travel to Iran were killed by Taliban militants in western Farah province of Afghanistan early Saturday morning.
