Statement and an article by CARC Party about the struggle in Susa Valley

7/9/2011

Below you find a statement and an article about the NO TAV (see footnote*) people's struggle in Susa Valley (Italy) against the High Speed Train project.

The people's struggle in Susa Valley is one of the most important aspects of the revolutionary mobilization of popular masses in Italy. It is important to pay attention to it and support it.

Let's see its similarities with one of the most important and advanced people's resistance in the world, that against Operation Green Hunt. In Italy, so as in India:

- popular masses are resisting against the State that is stealing their land;
- the State wants to plunder the land for the profit of the big companies, as established in the understandings with the companies and with the imperialist powers;
- this plundering means environmental devastations;
- the repression against people's resistance is supported by rightist and so called leftist forces;
- people who resist are called terrorist by the bourgeoisie and its media;
- people's resistance needs a revolutionary solution, and it is a force for building revolution.

We ask the forces of the international communist, anti imperialist and progressive movement, and all the progressive individuals, and particularly to all these forces and individuals in India, to pay attention to the struggle the popular masses are carrying out in Italy and to express their public solidarity. So doing, you will make a strong and living connection within the new people's resistance movement rising all over the world.
