OMG! Kamala Harris Becomes FBI Person of Interest!

When was the last time you were amazed, dazed, or astonished by the stupidity of Western media, think tanks, and staggering politicians? For me, the latest dazzling bumfuzzle comes from a Liberal Order that just fails to get Vladimir Putin's sardonic quip about U.S. Presidential candidate Kamala Harris. Tens of millions of Westerners are fearful now that a bumbling idiot will soon be a kind of Manchurian Candidate under Russia's control! No, really.

Some days back, Russia's president made a snarky comment about Kamala being his favorite candidate, but now, Sleepy Joe Biden is out for the count. The Kyiv Independent, which is welded to NATO, now says, "Trump 'offended' by Putin's 'endorsement' of Harris." For anybody doing any sort of thinking out there, the idea of a potent tag team of conservatives in the West and East should tweak the imagination. Let me enlighten you via some facts for those hammered into stopping cognitive behavior.

The Truth Glaring at Us

Let's start with a guy named Jakub Parusinski, the CEO of Jnomics Media, which has offices in London and Kyiv. Recently, we've seen a lot transpire where Russian media like RT is concerned, what with people involved in the network being made "persons of interest" by the FBI, etc. Well, this Parusinski fellow should be a person of interest for anybody looking for the root causes of a million dead or wounded Ukrainians. How so, you say? Don't worry, I'll elaborate further.

The Polish/Australian citizen is credited with playing a significant role in Ukraine before the Euromaidan coup of 2013/2014. In December 2013, he became chairman of the board of the newly founded Media Development Foundation. The goal of this media front was to, in their dogma, "Defend Ukraine's independent media against a corrupt and authoritarian regime." The entity formed by Parusinski and his backers went on to brag about how they would "further strengthen the fourth branch of government" after the overthrow of Viktor Yanukovich. This is not surprising given Parusinski's connections with the Western elites, particularly those at McKinsey in London,

For those unfamiliar with McKinsey, the corporation is a management and strategy consulting firm represented in over 65 countries. The company grossed $15 billion in 2022. I won't get into the firm or its CEO, Bob Sternfels, here, but suffice it to say the company's "dealings" with Saudi Arabia and other key players are other areas the FBI should probably be interested in. Sternfels was barely re-elected, in large part due to obvious failures to serve clients.

The Thundering, Monumental Failures

An interesting footnote I will rest on is how the McKinsey boss says, "India can become central to a network of interlinked economies," and how Modi and India gravitate toward Russia and the BRICS alliance like a powerful magnet is at work. For those interested in research, please study Sternfels' and McKinsey's efforts with Aon plc (Chicago/London and 118 other countries) to create profit from the rebuilding of Ukraine. Aon's CEO Gregory Case spent 17 years at McKinsey.

Returning to the Kyiv (Hardy, har, har, har) Independent, Jakub Parusinski benefits mightily from the "alumni network" McKinsey & Co. brags about so vociferously. A look at the list of VIP alumni begins with warmongers like Obama's former National Security Advisor, Susan Rice. It ends with Ruja Ignatova, the convicted OneCoin Crypto-Ponzi Scheme operator. And the New York Times is worried about Mr. Putin's children and his houses, oh brother. Parusinski is another puppet in a long list of media mafiosos run by the worst criminals in the history of Earth.

To be more precise, Jakub Parusinski has his greasy little fingers in banking, pharmaceutical, construction, telecommunications, and even the public sector. His various tentacles interconnect Zelensky, the Ukraine Nazis, and their NATO brotherhood from Poland (where else?). His latest post on LinkedIn leaves me chuckling. According to Parusinki, Axel Springer donated 100 armoured vests and 200 helmets to equip 100 Western journalists headed to the front lines of the conflict in Ukraine. The whole mess reminds me of Iran Contra if the truth is ever revealed.

To sum up, Western media uses showmanship from Putin and Trump verbatim to convince the uneducated of a fantasy. This happens at every turn, as most of you already know. The Kviv Independent, which Parusinski's Jnomics Media is funded by the likes of George Soros, the Limelight Foundation (which also sponsors Bellingcat and just about every Putin hater on Earth), the European Endowment for Democracy (funded by the EU), is a suction up on the world's most enormous fake news octopus. I cannot even list here the hundreds of media outlets, media companies, NGOs, and other Spectre-esque liars arrayed against Russia.

Definitions

It's phenomenal, just to be honest. Limelight alone funds 27 ultra-liberal entities propagandizing Western populations. And RT's Margarita Semonyan is now sanctioned by my country!!! The tenor of the lies against her in today's news is leaps and bounds above indecency. I have known Semonyan for over a decade now, and she's a kind, intelligent woman who is a philanthropist who also has an impossible job. Trying to get a moderate view out of Russia with one-one millionth of the budget of Western media was miraculous when RTTV was allowed to broadcast. Now, with Ukraine rebuilding investments, Lithium mines, and grain deals for Wall Street on the line, every Russian is on a "most wanted list." Yeah, Vladimir Putin would be thrilled to see a crazy nincompoop puppet of the U.S. military-industrial complex at 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue in Washington.

Hey, genius wordsmiths, McKinsey spooks, and Oxford graduates out there: Sardonic – adjective – to be grimly mocking or cynical.

But wait, what if Vladimir Putin was serious? Does that mean Kamala Harris will become a person of interest for the FBI and America's Deep State? Laugh, then cry. What a mess the world is in.
