The Lebanese Ministry of Health announced on Monday that the number of casualties from the Israeli aggression on Lebanon has risen to 2,483 martyrs and approximately 11,628 injured.

The statement noted that the death toll from yesterday's Israeli aggression caused the martyrdom of 19 people and injured 98 others. It is worth noting that the information is being provided by the Ministry's Public Health Emergency Operations Center.

In South Lebanon, 13 were martyred and 36 were injured in the Southern governorate, and six were martyred and 52 injured in the Nabatieh governorate.

This includes four people who were martyred in the town of al-Babiliyeh, including two children, while eight others were injured in Israeli airstrikes.

The Ministry of Health also collected the dismembered body parts of civilians killed in an Israeli airstrike in Kfar Hatta, near Saida. Health authorities are conducting DNA tests to identify the individuals targeted in the attacks, following reports of three individuals missing, while the body of one martyr has been recovered.

Another four civilians were killed in the town of al-Kharayib and four others were injured.

In the Bekaa, 9 people were injured as a result of the Israeli aggression, while another person was injured in Mount Lebanon.

Israeli warplanes also conducted a raid on the Nabi An'am neighborhood in the city of Baalbek. As a result of the brutal air raid, six people were martyred, including a child, while five others were injured.
