Trump confidant Tucker Carlson reveals the explosive truth about 9/11, with Curt Weldon

On September 11, 2001, unprecedented attacks destroyed three towers of the World Trade Center in New York. The attack was attributed to Osama bin Laden and justified the wars in Afghanistan and Iraq. However, on the same day, real estate developer Donald Trump denounced a lie, and six months later, politician Thierry Meyssan published "The Terrible Imposture" before going into exile. Former Republican Representative Curt Weldon has just revealed the pressure he suffered for daring to ask questions of George W. Bush.

Curt Weldon and Tucker Carlson

Much of what former Republican lawmaker Curt Weldon revealed a few days ago in his now-historic interview with Tucker Carlson—which broke audience records in the United States—was already well known thanks to various revelations. It's also worth noting that Tucker Carlson is, incidentally, one of Trump's top confidants, according to James Carville, a renowned Democratic Party consultant and close associate of Clinton. But it is not the same as seeing these revelations made in a condensed form in a one-hour-and-24-minute video [1] by the legendary Tucker Carlson, a video that demolishes all the lying Hollywood propaganda and cover-up put in place on the mainstream media, which thus once again exposes their information misery.

It is important to emphasize that from Baby Bush himself, who orchestrated the 9/11 attack, to all the American presidents who succeeded him—Obama and Biden—they have all hidden the "truth" about this event, which served as a pretext for the wars in Afghanistan and Iraq. Trump 1.0 himself was dissuaded from revealing what eminent researchers have dared to reveal, risking their lives, since 2001. It seems that pseudo-democratic governments prefer to lie in order to govern peacefully, in order, among other things, to perpetuate their despicable budgetary objectives.

Six months after the 9/11 attacks, Thierry Meyssan published "The Big Lie." In it, he denounced President Bush's official version. When his book sold out, he was invited by Thierry Ardisson, and his book emerged from the shadows to achieve worldwide success. First defended by Jacques Chirac, then abandoned by France, he went into exile and became an advisor to heads of state in the United Arab Emirates, Syria, Lebanon, Venezuela, Iran, and Libya.

FRENCH RESEARCHER Thierry Meyssan, founder and director of the Voltaire Network and number one in the Top Ten global geopoliticians, had exposed in his classic book, The Big Lie [2], that there had never been an attack perpetrated by a jihadist plane against the Pentagon installations—which led to him having to go into exile for several years in Lebanon and Syria—after receiving death threats from the CIA.

WHAT FEW PEOPLE know, and which was revealed by your servant, is that the staging of the attack on the Pentagon served as a pretext to cover up the "loss of revenue" (according to former Secretary of Defense Donald Rumsfeld's own admissions) of $2.3 trillion (trillions in English, thousands of billions in common French) that was magically evacuated by the comptroller and Orthodox (Khazar in English) rabbi (sic) Dov Zakheim, a member of the sinister group The Vulcans, led by Condoleezza Rice. The Pentagon's meager deficits in 2001 are not comparable to those accumulated 19 years later, when $35 billion (trillions in English) disappeared! [3]

LIKEWISE, YOUR SERVANT had highlighted the discrepancy between the collapse of the third tower, demolished in the afternoon, and that of the twin towers, demolished in the morning [4].. According to Tucker Carlson, "after 20 years in Congress, Curt Weldon was about to become chairman of the House Armed Forces Committee when he questioned the accuracy of the 9/11 report."

Tucker Carlson comments, "In retaliation, the Bush administration sent federal agents to his daughter's home, effectively ending his political career." He explains that at 77, Republican Curt Weldon decided to tell "the truth about September 11, 2001." The latter had been a legislator, elected for Pennsylvania from 1987 to 2007 (20 years!), and had served as vice chairman of the House Armed Forces Committee and the House Homeland Security Committee: this gave him a front-row seat to uncover the ins and outs of September 11, 2001.

The famous director and actor Mel Gibson, appointed "special ambassador" to Hollywood by Trump 2.0—the same position held by actors Jon Voight and Sylvester Stallone [5]—described the interview as "the biggest scandal in the history of the United States. Three buildings collapsed as if they had been programmed to do so. Not two, but three. To this day, no one has explained how Building 3 collapsed without being hit by a plane." Mel Gibson revealed that "the towers were designed to withstand aircraft impacts. And the firefighters on the spot had spoken of explosions inside the buildings [6]."

On the very day of the attacks, on New York's Channel 9, real estate developer Donald Trump called the official version of the towers' collapse a "lie." He subsequently entered politics. He is now President of the United States.

What is remarkable is that Trump 2.0 has so far remained silent about the explosive video of Tucker Carlson's interview with Curt Weldon, even though his inner circle and a former Republican lawmaker have made it public in the context of his tariff war, which is now targeting China.
